SKEIN OF DIPLOMACY

In Which the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty Has Been Enmeshed.

ITS RELATION TO THE CANAL

The English Statesmen Will Attempt to Adopt It to the New Conditions So the Nicaragua Water-way Can Be Constructed.

London, Jan. 23.—The Nicaragua canal question has been taken up by Secretary Hay and Lord Salisbury in a practical rather than a controversial spirit.

It is not probable that either of these statesmen is anxious to attempt to unravel the tangled skein of diplomacy with which the Clayton-Bulwer treaty has been enmeshed in the course of 50 years. They will prefer to make a fresh start in a spirit of mutual accommodation and good feeling.

The practical business now in hand is that of adapting the Clayton-Bulwer treaty to new conditions affecting the interests of both countries.

The commercial interests of the world and the highest ends of civilization will be promoted by the construction of a waterway through Central America. One country may be more directly interested than the other in the completion and control of the interoceanic canal, but both England and America will benefit commercially by the opening of the waterway, and neither can have any adequate motive for hampering or retarding a great work which will contribute to the progress and civilization of the world.

On this high ground the two governments can meet and devise practical measures for facilitating the construction of the canal, and for providing for its control and maintenance as a neutral waterway, open at all times to the shipping and navies of all the nations.

England's interest in it is mainly commercial, since it will supply shorter and more direct communications with China and the west coast of North and South America. On the other hand the treaty is recognized in England that America's interests in the Nicaraguan canal have materially increased since the negotiation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. It is now essential as a military work for uniting the Atlantic, gulf and Pacific coasts, and for concentrating the naval forces.

Au Essential Link.

As a power with possessions in the east and west, it will be an essential link in the American imperial system, as the Suez canal is in the British empire. Change of balance in the interests of the two countries in the Nicaragua canal has a direct bearing upon the two questions of construction and control, which are effected by the treaty of 1850.

The attitude of the British government, when properly approached and asked to revise the treaty of 1850 in a spirit of accommodation, may be forecast with confidence that the government has no desire to obstruct the construction of the Nicaragua canal.

It wishes to have the canal completed and opened as speedily as possible in the interest of the world's commerce. It prefers to have the United States government undertake the work, because this is the only method of economical construction by which the cost can be kept down and tolls secured.

The Panama enterprise has warned British ministers that a private company can not undertake so great a work without a vast increase of financial outlay.

They are convinced that the success of the Nicaragua canal as an engineering and financial undertaking will be impracticable under the management of a private company, whereas with the credit of the United States government behind it the bonds will be floated above par, and the enterprise be released from the burdens of high rates of interest.

On this account the British government will readily consent to alter the treaty so as to allow the United States to control the canal, and to be responsible for its regulation and control.

Will Fill the Vacancy.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The president is understood to have decided to appoint another member of the Anglo-American commission to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Dingley, and to have so informed senators and representatives who have called upon him within the last few days in behalf of Representative Tawney of Minnesota, a member of the ways and means committee. It was thought the vacancy would be left open, owing to the advanced stage of the work, but the president desires to have the commission full when its important labors are closed.

ATTORNEYS ASSIGNED to defend Mrs Anna E. George for the Murder of George D. Saxton.

Canton, O., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Anna E. George was taken into court for arraignment on the indictment for the murder of George D. Saxton, brother of Mrs. McKinley.

Attorneys John C. Welty and James S. Sterling, who have represented her without direct authority of court up to this time, were assigned to defend her. They objected to arraignment at this time, claiming there were features of the indictment they wanted to investigate before allowing their client to recognize it by pleading to it. A continuance was granted, no date being set.

Liable to Disbarment.

Cleveland, Jan. 23.—The circuit court overruled the demurrer to the disbarment charges against Judge F. E. Dellenbaugh. In answer to the points raised by the defense the court held that it had jurisdiction in the case, and that the charges were sufficient, if proved, to justify Judge Dellenbaugh's disbarment. After the decision was given, Judge Ingersoll, representing Judge Dellenbaugh, asked that the Dellenbaugh and Burke cases be separated, so that his client may be given a separate trial. The court granted the request.

Ohio Municipal Leagues.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 23.—All arrangements have been perfected for extending a handsome welcome to the delegates to the second annual convention of the Ohio League of Municipalities, which continues till Thursday. The decorations of Memorial hall are said to be even more beautiful than on the occasion of the Republican state convention, four years ago. Mayor Gibson, vice president of the league, will welcome the delegates at the first session, the response being made by Mayor Black of Columbus.

Wants Ohio Miners to Secede.

Massillon, O., Jan. 23.—President William Morgan of the Massillon District Miners' union has returned from the Pittsburgh convention. In an interview he said that the operators' extraordinary demands counteract the expected demands from the miners. He believes that the settlement will be on an advance of 5 cents a ton, granting the run-of-mine system and a continuance of the 8-hour day. He desires the Ohio miners to secede, and says they will always be the backbone of the miners' union.

New Incorporations.

Columbus, O., Jan. 23.—The Shuart Grader company, Oberlin, capital stock $20,000; the Commercial Printing company, Akron, capital stock $20,000; the Home Realty company, Cleveland, capital stock $5,000; the Warren Realty company, Warren, capital stock $10,000; the Scioto Canning company, Circleville, capital stock $50,000; the New Franklin Building association, Dayton, certificate of decree of common pleas court of Montgomery county changing name to the Franklin Building association.

Cutting Price of Lime.

Toledo, Jan. 23.—The Western Lime association is holding an adjourned meeting here devoted to the subject of price-cutting. The standard price, about 45 cents per barrel, has been cut as low as 31 cents in some places, and losses have resulted. Fifteen delegates are present, representing a capacity of 2,575,000 barrels of lime per year.

Former Ohio Man Appointed.

Washington, Jan. 23.—General Russell Hastings of Bermuda, formerly of Ohio, but now living at Northampton, Mass., has been chosen for appointment as director of the bureau of American republics, to succeed the late Joseph Smith. General Hastings during the civil war was an officer of the president's regiment.

Fayne Strahan Moore's Bond.

New York, Jan. 23.—Judge Bookstaver, in the supreme court, increased the bail of Fayne Strahan Moore from $4,000 to $6,000, on the charge of "dangerous" Martin Mahon, and also affixed an additional bond of $1,500 on the larceny charge, which accuses Mrs. Moore of stealing silver ware from the Waldorf-Astoria. Bonds were offered by Joseph N. Campbell and Judge Bookstaver ordered counsel for Mrs. Moore and the district attorney to ascertain as to the responsibility of Mr. Campbell.

The Filipino Congress.

Madrid, Jan. 23.—According to a dispatch received here from Manila, the Filipino congress, at Malalois, has authorized the release of the Spanish civil prisoners, and will shortly liberate the military prisoners.

In Honor of an Ex-Governor.

Denver, Jan. 23.—The remains of the late ex-Governor J. B. Cooper lay in state at the capitol from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. The legislature adjourned as a mark of respect.

OHIO MAN APPOINTED

On the Commission to Administer the Colonial Affairs.

IT'S GENERAL R. P. KENNEDY

Members Will Deal With the Bestowal of Franchises and Distribution of Money to Be Spent for Public Works.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The secretary of war has completed the organization of a colonial commission to undertake the administration here in Washington of all matters of detail respecting the government of the territories acquired during the war or occupied by the United States forces.

The personnel of the commission will be General Robert P. Kennedy of Bellefontaine, O.; Curtis Guild of Massachusetts and George W. Watkins of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Up to this point the secretary has undertaken himself to deal with the administration of insular affairs, but the questions involved have become so numerous and complicated that it has been found absolutely necessary to call for assistance.

This commission will deal with the bestowal of franchises and concessions, the distribution of money to be spent in public improvements, and all of the troublesome issues that have arisen and are likely to arise in Porto Rico and the Philippines.

SENATOR WHITE.

Regards It as Bad Policy to Take the Philippines.

Washington, Jan. 23.—At the beginning of the session of the senate several bills were passed.

Mr. White (Cal.), in accordance with previous notice, addressed the senate on the anti-expansion resolution offered by Mr. Vest (Mo.). In view of the proposition of the California legislature to "instruct" Mr. White and his colleague, Mr. Perkins, how to vote upon the policy of expansion, and upon the pending peace treaty, the remarks of Mr. White were regarded with much interest.

Mr. White spoke not only on the Vest resolution, but also to that offered by Mr. Bacon (Ga.), declaring the inhabitants of the Philippines entitled to liberty and independence.

Mr. White took as texts for his remarks certain paragraphs from supreme court decisions, a sentence from President McKinley's Atlanta speech and a paragraph from the report of Admiral Dewey to the navy department, saying that the Filipinos were as well qualified for self-government as the Cubans. He said he had no intention of discussing the question from a legal standpoint, as such a discussion would serve no useful purpose.

"The views of senators of eminent ability," said he, "demonstrate the futility of endeavoring to secure accord upon that point."

He said he denied the doctrine that seeks to give this country jurisdiction in some cases, and denied it in others.

The country, he said, was confronted by a situation differing entirely from that with which it had been confronted at any time before. While it might be admitted that we had the power to acquire foreign territory, whether we should do so depends largely upon the circumstances.

He maintained that the question presented was one purely of policy. Should we take the Philippines? he asked. He thought not, and would endeavor to show why we should not, for he believed it our duty to see to it that our system was kept free from all such contamination.

"I care not," said Mr. White, "whether the people in the Philippines are fitted for self-government or not. It is certain that if they are not, they ought not to be brought into alliance with us."

Resignation Requested.

Washington, Jan. 21.—It is understood that the president has requested the resignations of Mr. Shurtliff, Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Sharp, three of the nine members of the board of general appraisers at New York. The officials here decline to make any statement in regard to the matter, yet there is reason to believe that want of harmony in the board is one of the causes of the president's action.

Administration Attacked.

Washington, Jan. 23.—When the senate went into executive session the nominations of Admirals Sampson and Schley and other naval officers advanced in numbers were taken up, and Senator Gorman made a speech attacking the administration for preferring Admiral Sampson to Admiral Schley. Senator Lodge replied defending the course of the administration.

A THRILLING EPISODE

The Ice Bridge Over Niagara Falls Starts to Go Down Stream.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 23.—While nearly 100 persons were on the great ice bridge in the gorge of the Niagara river, the icy mass was broken loose from the banks at either end.

There were thousands of Sunday sightseers in the parks, and on the upper steel arch enjoying the beauty of the crystal-like structure.

They heard the cracking of the ice and saw the great mass as it was moved by the swift current of the river, and hundreds shouted warning to those on the bridge.

Some of these venturesome persons had only gone a short distance from the river bank, while others were out in the center of the bridge and were crossing the river. Those near the end soon found safety, but further out toward the center were a number of small boys.

Before they were started for the shore, the great bridge was loosened from its fastenings.

Then it became a race for life, but the youngsters amid wild shouts finally reached the shore.

Lively Stock Market.

New York, Jan. 23.—The stock market trading has scarcely a parallel in the history of the exchange. Shares, which until recently were attended with conservative fluctuations, became speculative footballs, and were bandied around 5 to 10 points on enormous dealings. The tremendous bull movement under way in the stock market, indicating as it does the pulse of the financial and commercial situation has brought the public into the market in an exceptional extent, rendering it impossible for the recognized market leaders to influence trading as in the past. The crowds were enormous in the brokers offices, and in the galleries of the exchange. A large stock exchange house posted a notice that it would not be responsible for trades in odd lots, owing to the enormous business in 100-share lots.

The Apia Situation.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Inquiries made at the state department show no further advices can be expected from Apia before the latter part of next week. This is based on the presumption that the reports will come on the regular line of vessels that travel between Auckland and Apia, but of course there is a possibility of some private sailing craft making the trip if events of sufficient importance to demand an immediate report have occurred there since the last steamer sailed. By Friday or Saturday of this week the British warship, which recently left Wellington, should arrive at Apia, and thus make it possible for one of the two British vessels which then will be in port, to be used for the conveyance of mail advices to Auckland.

Aimed at Roberts.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Representative Clarke of Iowa introduced a bill "providing that no polygamist shall be a senator or representative." It provides that "no person living in or practicing polygamy shall be eligible to be a member of either house of congress of the United States, nor shall such person be permitted to hold a seat therein." It is further provided that the evidence of polygamy shall be of whatever nature that established the fact. Another provision makes the act take immediate effect.

All Guests at White House.

Washington, Jan. 23.—President McKinley, accompanied by Mrs. McKinley and a party of friends, went down the river on the dispatch boat Sylph for a day's outing. In the party were Colonel and Mrs. Herrick of Cleveland, Captain and Mrs. McWilliams of Chicago, Captain and Mrs. Rand, Miss Mary Barber, Miss Mabel McKinley, Miss Clara Shields, Miss Mary McWilliams, Miss Carrie Harter, C. R. Shultz and James Barber. All the members of the party are guests at the White House.

Rush Orders Received.

Omaha, Jan. 23.—Rush orders were received at the headquarters of the department of Missouri for the forwarding of the Twenty-second infantry to San Francisco. The railroads will have the equipment down at Fort Crook, and the loading will be commenced at once. The regiment has orders, if possible, to reach San Francisco Jan. 28 to sail on the Senator, but it is not thought possible they can reach there by that time.

The Same Handwriting.

New York, Jan. 23.—The final report of William J. Kinsley, the handwriting expert in the Adams-Barnet-Cornish poisoning case, has been made to the police. The report shows positively that the person who wrote the request for a sample bottle of kutton powder also wrote the address on the package of cyanide of mercury sent to Harry Cornish as bromo-seltzer.

DEADLOCKS UNBROKEN

Result of the Senatorial Contests In Various States.

NO VOTE IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Republicans of the Senate and Democrats of the House Are Engaged in Disposing of the Contested Election Cases.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 23.—There has been no decisive result reached here affecting the contest for senator between Scott and McGraw.

The committee on privileges and elections presented majority and minority reports on the contests of Senators Getzendanner and Pierson, which lie over one day. Senator Elkins and Congressman Dovener and Dayton accompanied Mr. Scott from Washington, arriving on an early train. They will remain until the senatorial contest is settled.

The house committee on elections will likely report recommending the seating of Dent (D.), making the third Democrat seated in that body on contests, and changing the Republican majority of one for senator to the other side.

There was no ballot for senator, as both houses are still considering contested election cases. It has been decided that the two branches of the legislature will vote for senator separately, and meet in joint convention for the first time on Wednesday to ballot for senator.

Fifth Ballot Don't Elect Quay.

Harrisburg, Jan. 23.—The fifth ballot in the joint assembly of the senate and house for senator resulted: Quay (R.), 63; Jenks (D.), 49; Dalzell (R.), 11; Irvin (R.), 3; Stewart (R.), 8; Huff (R.), 3; C. W. Stone (R.), 6; Tubbs (R.), 3; Grow (R.), 3; Markle (R.), 1; Downing (R.), 1; P. A. B. Weidner (R.), 2. Total vote cast, 151; necessary to choice, 76. No election.

Must Take Tenth Ballot.

Dover, Del., Jan. 23.—The ninth joint ballot for United States senator resulted as follows: George Gray (D.), 14; J. Edward Addicks (R.), 15; Henry A. Dupont (R.), 10; Francis G. Dupont (R.), 1; William S. Hilles (R.), 1; L. I. Handy (D.), 2; John H. Rodney (D.), 3; absent, 6. Total vote, 46; necessary to choice, 24. No election.

Took Three Ballots.

Salt Lake, Jan. 23.—The legislature took three ballots for senator and adjourned. The last ballot was: King (D.), 19; McCune (D.), 22; Cannon, 7; Zane (R.), 13; Sutherland (R.), 1; absent, 1.

No Election.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 23.—Senatorial ballot: Clarke, 36; Conrad, 33. Republicans voted for Cornelius Hedges. Remainder scattering.

Deadlock Continues.

For Kentucky—Fair, preceded by rain in eastern portions; much colder; southerly winds, shifting to northwesterly.

THE Continental Tobacco Trust pays the State of Ohio $10,507 for the privilege of doing business in that State. What does it pay for the same privilege in Kentucky?

It is said to have been practically decided to make no change in the war revenue law so long as there is any trouble in the Philippines. The expenses of the army there, the outlay for the increased navy and other accessories of the imperialistic program will, it is figured, easily consume the $100,000,000 which the tax is now yielding annually. The people foot the bill.

GENERAL MILES is now berated in the Alger press for the injury he has done to American exporters of meats by calling attention to the "embalmed beef" sent to Puerto Rico for the soldiers. "The rascally crowd who sent unfit supplies to the soldiers would not hesitate to send the same sort of stuff to any market where they could find a place for it," says the Philadelphia Record. "They are a discredit to the country and a danger to its commercial prosperity. Gen. Miles has done a great public service in calling attention to a peculiarly odious sort of villainy."

THE First Kentucky regiment will be brought up from Louisville to Fort Thomas to be mustered out of the service. To an ordinary person the question naturally arises why can't the regiment be mustered out at Louisville where the boys are now camped, and thus save the Government the extra expense of the trip to Fort Thomas? Do the railroads have to be given another "pull" at Uncle Sam's treasury? It will be the last they'll have through this regiment, and don't be surprised if the boys are sent by some roundabout way so as to make the profit just as much as possible for the roads.

SOME Administration editors are frothing at the mouth in their rage at the prospect of the treaty failing of ratification. One of them shouts, "Ratify the treaty of Paris; lasting infamy for every Senator who dares to obstruct its ratification," which moves the Enquirer to observe: "This is the dregs of irresponsible journalism. Let the Senate of the United States vote honestly on this question. Let every Senator who votes thoughtfully and with probity be respected whichever side he takes. Senators are put in the Capitol of the United States to think and act from conviction, and not to be bullied by newspapers which seem to be moved by other than motives of honest public policy."

A Bush Woman.

Close to the wagon we met a bush woman, one of Indowyska's people, reduced by starvation to the most emaciated and pitiable condition. Her husband had been killed by lions some days before, though she herself had escaped with her life. On her back and shoulders were the marks where the same lion had ripped away great strips of flesh. Long clots of blood had dried on her body; the wounds had not even been washed. I gave her some meat which she seized upon and ate ravenously. The bones were almost through her filthy skin; her little beady eyes set close together under a low, retreating forehead, her flattened nose and large protruding lips, concealing what little chin she possessed, gave her a look most uncanny and repellent.

Altogether more like an animal than a human being, she seemed to me the lowest type of womankind that it has ever been my fate to look on. There are numbers of bushmen and their wives who live in this miserable condition, wandering through the veldt with no other means of subsistence than such trash as wild roots and berries. Some of the men have guns and ammunition, and they spend their whole time in shooting. When they kill a buck within reach of water—say ten miles—the whole family congregates on the spot, sits round the body and gorges itself until every scrap of flesh and skin has disappeared.—Blackwood's Magazine.

THE SHOWALTERS.

Something About the Late Chicago Jurist and His Brothers—Ancestors Came From Banks of the Rhine.

[Enquirer.]

Mr. Watterson Showalter, of Georgetown, Ky., is at the Emery, en route home from Chicago, where he went to administer upon the estate of his bachelor brother, the late distinguished United States Circuit Court Judge John William Showalter. Mr. Showalter found that his brother had left $10,000 in one of the Chicago banks, with many notes for money loaned, and some of his salary is due from the Government.

"My brother was one of the finest violoncello players in Chicago," said Mr. Showalter, "and while in that city last week I was offered $2,000 for his instrument, which was made in Milan, Italy, in 1705, of wood then been seasoned 200 years. I declined the offer, and am going to have the cello insured and placed with a Fourth street musical house in this city for safe keeping. I would not part with it for $10,000. With pardonable pride I can truthfully say that my brother was the most remarkable and modest man I ever knew. He could master anything. He was one of the greatest pleaders in this country, and had already made an enviable reputation on the bench. He was beloved by everybody and noted for his charity. He had a regular retinue of beggars always with him. Many anecdotes are related of his experience in Chicago with his charity coterie. He was accustomed to give one of them 25 cents every day. One morning he came along, and putting his hand in his pocket as usual, found he hadn't a penny. He apologized to the beggar, and the next morning handed him the customary quarter and started on. 'Hold on there,' said the beggar. 'You owe me 50 cents.' My brother paid it. An old broken-down lawyer was accustomed to borrow small sums from my brother until they footed up $10, when he would disappear, not to be seen until he returned and paid the $10. Then he would commence borrowing again up to the $10 and returned as before—an endless chain."

JACK Showalter, the chess player of whom you ask, is our youngest brother, now about 35 years of age. He has a farm down in Scott County, Kentucky, near me. He is a brilliant but careless player, and in that way loses some games. He plays for the fascination of the game, and never plays for money except to accept the prizes to meet his expenses. The highest prize money he has ever received from a single game was $2,000, I believe. I was once fond of chess and found it getting such a hold upon me that I quit the game entirely. Yes, my brother has played some big games abroad. Our Showalters came to this country from the banks of the Rhine in 1710. My ancestor, who came to America, and his eldest son were named Ulrich Showalter, and a relative of that name now resides on the old estate in Germany. My Watterson ancestor was a Manxman, and came to this country from the Isle of Man. My great grandmother was a Miss Watterson."

'TWAS A TRADE,

So They Say Regarding the Appointment of a Republican Officer.

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 21.—The action of the Democratic Court of Appeals in electing four Democratic officers and one Republican created a buzz of comment to-day in Democratic quarters, and it was told in a semi-official way that the trade by which the Republican won was made last fall, when it was thought doubtful whether a Democrat or a Republican would be elected Judge to succeed Chief Justice Lewis.

The agreement was that if a Democrat won, a Democratic Judge would vote with the three Republicans to reelect young Guffy, the Republican tipstaff; if a Republican won, a Republican Judge was to vote for a Democrat for the office of reporter. A similar agreement was put through two years ago when E. W. Hines, a gold Democrat, was ousted as reporter, by giving young Guffy, the place of tipstaff.

A Wall Paper Trick.

"An old fellow came along the other day," says a Philadelphia restaurant keeper, "who gave me a pointer I had never dreamed of. He came in and offered to patch up all the bad places in my wall paper and so skillfully that I couldn't find a place after it was done. Well, I hadn't any patching to do, but I bet the old chap a quarter and his dinner that he couldn't do what he said. I tore a patch out of the wall paper, and when he was through eating he went to work.

"The first thing he did was to cut a piece of blank wall paper big enough to cover the hole and paste it over. Next he took a brush and painted a ground the same as the other paper. Then kick me if he didn't take other brushes and colors and paint in the design of the paper. I willingly yielded up a quarter with the dinner and was satisfied when I saw the alacrity and ease with which the fellow did his work."

PITHY POINTS.

The licensing of whisky is a crime. The liquor seller is an incendiary in any community.

Let every man who values virtue, temperance, sobriety, honesty and abhors idleness, immorality, crime and vice, be on hand to vote against whisky at Washington February 11th.

Let every man who regards schools, churches, factories, workshops and mills above saloons, jails, brothels, penitentiaries, workhouses and the gallows, cast his vote against hell's chief agency, whisky, at the approaching election at Washington.

A man makes a great mistake if he doesn't realize that the almshouses, jails, penitentiaries, and even the gallows are waiting for his boys unless he makes other arrangements for them in time, in the way of working against the evil of the saloon and the rum traffic.

RICH MUSICAL TREAT.

Such Indeed Was the Entertainment Last Night—A Splendid Success in Every Way.

The concert given at the Third Street Methodist Church last evening by the Boston Ladies' Symphony Orchestra was distinctly the musical event of the season.

The church was filled fully a half hour before the time for commencing and still they came. Chairs were placed in the aisles, and the partition taken down and even then the "S. R. O." sign might have been hung out.

The best of it was there was not one disappointed soul in the entire audience—indeed Maysville was not half prepared for the great enjoyment each number on the generous program afforded. Universal regret was expressed that the opera house was not ready to receive them, for they could have filled it with all ease.

The ensemble playing was magnificent; the soloists each an artiste in her line.

Perhaps the most universally enjoyed number was the brilliant Fantasia, the ever beautiful "Mathn," violin solo by Miss Beaman.

The management offered no apology for the non-appearance of Miss Virginia Knight Logan. The voice of the substitute Miss Highlands, has evidently seen better days—at least let us hope so.

Too much can scarcely be said of the orchestra, however. Several compared it to Sousa's, the Bostonians in no way suffering thereby.

Mr. Baker of the Y. M. C. A. should receive a public vote of thanks for giving Maysville such a rare treat. Our citizens will surely trust his taste in entertainment in the future.

Six Months in Jail at Hard Labor.

Ira Norton, Pud Wilburn and Bob Thatcher, the trio of youngsters arrested last week for stealing some articles from the Racket Store waived examination before Squire Grant, and were tried Saturday before Judge Newell, who sentenced each one of the accused to six months imprisonment in the county jail at hard labor.

A few more sentences like this will have a tendency to break up much of the petty thieving that is being done.

FINE ASPHALT BEDS.

R. M. Hardiman, an Ex-Maysville Man, Has Organized a Company To Develop His Rowan County Find.

MOREHEAD, Ky., Jan. 22.—The people of this section are greatly excited over the rich asphalt beds which were discovered in the north end of Rowan County a short time ago. A five-foot vein of asphalt, spreading over a large area, is what is engaging the attention of capitalists at present. Samples of the product have been taken out, analyzed and tested, and pronounced first-class, surpassing in many features the famous Trinidad asphalt.

R. M. Hardiman, a prominent Lexington contractor, and who is building the new court house at this place, is forming a stock company, with a capital of $150,000, to work the mines. He has associated with him two capitalists from Cincinnati and Pittsburg, who have secured an option on 1,458 acres of land upon which the asphalt is located. The fields are on the line of the C. and O. railroad, and are convenient for the handling of the material. It is proposed to erect refineries at Lexington, and pave a few streets there to test the new product. It is estimated that this asphalt can be put down for $1.70 per square yard, which is considerably less than brick pavements cost.

Shortly after his arrival he fell in with Ennis and the others, he says, and they took a walk out to the shop where they all drank some whisky. Later he claims the men pushed him down under the bank and robbed him of $17 or $18. Their trial was still in progress at 10 o'clock.

River News.

Virginia for Pittsburg and Urania for Pomeroy to-night. Down: Bonanza.

Enquirer: "Steward Thomas Oldham is on the landing open for an engagement. Tommy is a favorite with all the steamboat officers and his friends hope to see him afloat again at an early day."

The new towboat T. H. Davis, finishing at Gallipolis, has a history. She was originally the Grafton, built for towing between St. Louis and Grafton, Ill. She was purchased about twenty years ago by the late Captain Dan W. Woodward, of Charleston, W. Va. Captain Woodward died shortly after rebuilding her and his son, Captain James A. Woodward, now of Pittsburg, named her in honor of his father. Her first year's towing in the Kanawha and Cincinnati trade netted her owners the neat little income of $1,000 per month—$12,000 for the season. She performed some wonderful work in the rapids of the Great Kanawha, once pushing fourteen barges up through Red House on seven feet of water. She afterward went into the Cincinnati and Pittsburg trade and in trying to take a John A. Wood or a J. B. Williams tow met with so many breakdowns and mishaps that after numerous Marshal's sales and ownership she finally was bought in by the Messrs. Davis to balance a store bill. She had three names in her time, Grafton, D. W. Woodward and Bob Prichard—the present and fourth name, T. H. Davis.

The plans which are to be carried out by amateurs in opening the opera house not only strike one with their originality, but in the first move for their execution are highly gratifying. The details, while upon paper as yet, certainly have allowed no side to be neglected which could in any way take from the eye or the memory. It only shows that there is no need of going away from home to get conception, plot or talent. Of course what is on paper can not be carried out unless the cooperation of our men and women is had and in this need and with the appeal made there should be found no hindrances unless, as the statutes put it, "by interposition of God." We are sure the boys and girls of town should not only heartily accord Mr. Curran their support, but should show such enthusiasm as shall create a tidal wave to sweep over our city so that only the entertainments to open Washington Opera House would be the theme and topic of households. It's a splendid substitute for grip, it's a fine thing to put in the plan of complaining which largely emanate from nothing else to do. Begin taking the remedy now.

SHORT NEWS STORIES.

Schofield Made His Record—An Audacious Narrative—Choate's Repartee.

John M. Schofield, the only living lieutenant general of the United States, though now on the retired list, is known among his intimates as a good story teller. One night not long ago he came down into the lobby of the Arlington smoking an after dinner cigar and wearing his famous skullcap and was greeted by a party of friends who were seated in a group relating their experiences in army life, etc. The general joined the party, and was soon called up for a story. Some one spoke of his proud and enviable record in the army, when the general said:

"Apropos of what you have just said I would like to tell of a memorable experience of some years ago in which the governor of California and myself were the principals. I was invited by him to join in a hunting party. The next day we went down into the San Joaquin valley to hunt for bear. We went out for bruin, but returned empty handed.

"As we were coming out of the valley the governor suggested that as we had not had occasion to shoot any animals we try something inanimate. So we agreed to shoot at a knothole in a distant tree. The governor, a good marksman, fired the first shot, which went wide of the mark. I fired a shot, striking about an inch above the knothole. The governor fired, and the bullet struck close to where mine had landed. Then I fired again and hit the knothole square in the center. The governor suggested that we shoot again, but I declined, saying:

"Governor, I've made my record and I stand on it." So I say—I've made my record in the army and I stand on it." — Washington Cor. New York World.

An Audacious Narrative.

The Chicago Record presents this specimen of leze majesty: A couple of years before Baron Cederstrom's birth—for that is as good a way as any in fixing the date—Mme. Patti was married, for the first time, to the Marquis De Caux. In the winter of the same year

"COME; I WANT YOU, IF YOU PLEASE!"

she gave a musical at her establishment in the Champs Elysees, Paris, and the Princess of Wales, who was in the French metropolis at the time, expressed a desire to be present. On the arrival of the princess, on the arm of the Marquis De Caux, one of Patti's devout worshippers—who, by the way, has just recently died—the Marquis De Chavanat, was struck with admiration. He deserted the chair of his—and also De Caux's—goddess, slipped around and addressed himself to the marquis. He was presented to her royal highness, and so well did his wit and gayety please her that, when opportunity offered, she graciously dismissed Patti's husband and went off on the arm of the other marquis, whom the diva considered her own property.

A little while afterward, as the marquis, astir with pride in his royal conquest, was sitting entertaining the princess with scintillating small talk, Patti strode across the drawing room to the alcove and stood before him. She tapped him on the shoulder. He turned pale and caught his breath. "Come, I want you, if you please!" said the marquise. De Chavanat said nothing, nor moved. The marquise stamped her foot in a temper. "You know, marquis," she cried, with vexation, "that no one but you can turn the pages of my songs! I'm sure her royal highness will excuse you."

It was now the princess' turn for wrath. She rose haughtily—but the story ends there, for the tactful Marquis De Caux had observed the scene from a distance and had come to the rescue. Patti departed with her marquis trotting at her heels, while the other employed his courtly resources in appeasing the justly offended princess.

Choate's Repartee.

Here is another anecdote of Joseph H. Choate: In the million dollar Hurlbert inheritance case he tangled up a witness in a maze of contradictions, finally saying, "Then you told a falsehood simply because you thought it customary?"

"Well, if you keep forcing me, I will have to keep going in a circle to explain," answered Mr. Hurlbert.

"Go ahead," retorted Choate. "I'll follow you to the end."

"To the end of a circle?" murmured Lawyer Parsons, Choate's opponent.

But Choate retaliated the next day, when a witness testified that the Hurlbert family had family prayers morning and night. "Family prayers?" repeated Parsons, in a questioning tone. "Family prayers," repeated the witness. "Yes," continued Choate, "don't you know what they are, Brother Parsons?"

Riding in the President's Carriage. Mrs. McKinley's dressmaker came over from New York the other day and spent several hours with "the first lady of the land," trying on new gowns. While in the White House the dressmaker's carriage, which was a hired one, drove off. She barely had time to catch her train, and as the president's carriage was waiting for him he gracefully put it at the disposal of the New York dressmaker.—Washington Letter.

Fas Jumped Into Prominence as a Gold Producer of First Rank.

Tacoma, Jan. 23.—P. H. Hebbe, who is part owner of 40 Klondike claims, has arrived from Dawson. He brings news that Dominion Creek has just jumped into prominence as a gold producer of the first rank, exceeding Bonanza and equalling Eldorado. Its claims are not as rich as a limited number on Eldorado, but its length is greater. Dominion and Eldorado together will produce from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 at the spring clean-up. A conservative estimate puts the winter output of the Klondike at $30,000,000, doubling the output of last winter.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Good to Fine Grades Were Higher at Close of Last Week—Strong Demand For Color Grades Also.

[Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.]

Sales on our market for the week just closed amounted to 4,140 hds., with receipts for the same period 3,984 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 41,518 hds. Sales of the crop of 1898 on our market to this date amount to 18,852 hds.

New Burley.—The first part of last week the market did not show any material change over the prices of previous week, but the latter part of the week values were higher for the good to fine grades of leaf, such goods showing an improvement of something like $1 per hundred, this being applicable to such grades as are selling above $8, either red or color. There is a strong demand also for color grades, but the common and nondescript trash without color, such as are selling between 3c. and 4c. are a few bids lower. Under the very heavy offerings it is gratifying to report that the market has been more spirited than at any time since the opening of the month. A great many hds. than usual were sold at prices between $10 and $12.75, averages for good crop running from $8 to $9 including all grades.

Old Burley.—There has been decidedly more inquiry on our market for old burley than at any time for months past and all grades in sweet condition are materially stronger. Sales were made during the week at prices ranging from $15 to $17.50 for choice leaf.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco (1898) crop:

Trash (green or mixed).....	$ 2 50 @ 8 50
Common color trash.....	3 50 @ 5 00
Medium to good color trash.....	5 00 @ 7 00
Common color lugs.....	4 00 @ 5 00
Medium to good lugs.....	5 00 @ 6 00
Common to medium leaf.....	6 00 @ 8 00
